The last paragraph of Govt No 7643-C5-1914-4 of 25.1.1917 requires that one appointment in every four among Munsiffs shall be made by nomination on special grounds of a person who is a graduate in law or a Barrister at law. The object with which this rule was framed was apparently to provide for representation of different communities (vide paragraphs 4 & 6 of the Registrar's letter No 5749-349 of 22.5.1915). In June 1915 Govt passed an order that in making nominations for the post of Munsiff the chief Court should take into account the claims of officials in other depts qualified for the appointment as Munsiff. This order was not appealed by the Order of 1917 regarding the competitive Examination, but has in effect been modified by it. The order of 1915 will apply now only in the case of the 4th appointment referred to in the last paragraph of the order of 1917.

T

O

(C5 714-5)

(2) As the selection of candidates for Munsif has now been entrusted to the Land Revenue Dept of the Secretariat, the chief Court wish to know whether on the same principle the Selection for the fourth appointment need not be extended to any department other than the Judicial dept. As a matter of fact the chief Court have not till now selected a single Candidate for the post of Munsiff from any dept.

Papers ready for disposal

If the analogy is to be completely applied, just as the exception is made in the case of ~~Ministerial~~ officials in the Secretariat & Land Revenue similar exception will have to be made for Munsiff appointment also.

ment other than their own. The reason is clear. They have no means of knowing the capacity of candidate working in other Depts. So there is no objection to answer the reference in the affirmative. So long as the nomination rests under law in the Civil Courts, they are likely to recommend those whose capacity they have some means of knowledge. But in the case of those who have been appointed on special grounds, the fact that they are not working in the Judicial Dept will apparently not stand in the way of their selection.
